YOUR COMMENTS ON THE CASE

Action will be required to tackle climate change which will make air travel less attractive and more expensive. In an attempt to off set this and recoup any investment the airport will face increasing pressure to relax any restrictions placed on aircraft types and noise limits. This proposal should be rejected until the airport has complied with the previously agreed noise limits. Failure to do so will demonstrate that in Luton it is acceptable to disregard planning conditions and then apply retrospectively to get what you have done allowed.
I would suggest that any one who wants an extension to their house should simply build it, apply retrospectively for permission then cite the Luton airport expansion as precedent for disregarding planning approvals.
