I was once a rural housing enabler and there was always one person in my experience always an older person recently moved out of London with oodles of cash who tried to stop affordable housing for the community ... unable to afford Sussex Kent Devon or Cheshire house prices .. the rother railway is a similar saga

This project is to repair damage done in the...less enlightened past.. but here again one person is trying to selfishly wreck something that will help the local economy ..

Why can't one persons personal whim be ignored to befit everyone else ..

Similar situation in parracombe north Devon ... it really should not stop a transport and works order especially here when the one complainer dies even live at the property.
