Further to my submission in support of the Robertsbridge valley Railway

I believe that the railway will further enhance and protect wildlife by providing a wildlife corridor to previously unconnected habitats, in contrast to assertions made that habitats will be permanently destroyed /lost , nature has an amazing ability to reassert itself even after brief disturbance Current habitats are relatively species poor consisting of secondary woodland (unusable by the land owner) and semi improved pasture not as rich as traditional water meadow pasture. If there is a predicted slight rise in flooding (due to climate change )suitable water management will benefit the pasture bringing in water that is rich in nutrients.
