I write in total support for this planned extension, including crossings of (eventually) three main roads. This line existed with the original level crossings until sometime in the 1960's. It's resurrection will bring many benefits to the area once connection to main line at Robertsbridge is achieved far outweighing any temporary stops for road traffic during its limited timetable. See the boost to the Bluebell line once reconnected with East Grinstead. An awful lot of time, money and effort have gone into getting money, land and permissions. Please don't let a few hundred protesters prevent this extension going ahead.
