To whom it may concern

The reinstatement of the rail line between Robertsbridge and Tenterden

I firmly believe that this amazing project, if allowed to go ahead, will be of incalculable benefit to the local area. It will be one of the best and prettiest conservation lines in the UK and bring much needed tourism to the area.

The talk of traffic disruption is nonsense: the roads around East Sussex are dotted with level crossings and I rarely have to wait at any of them. And who doesn't get a smile when they see a truly joyous steam train chug by?

Please, please, please allow this wonderful, magical line to proceed to Robertsbridge and give East Sussex something of which to be really proud.

Yours

Simon Gilboy
