Dear Brenda, Joanna, I send you these in case you feel that the images might add anything to what you already have to inform the Inquiry about the usual extent of flooding in severe weather. They were taken on 25 December 2013!

The photos were taken looking northwards across Charles' fields towards Salehurst and the Hoad and Moat farm fields north of the river and, of course, to where the proposed Railway embankment would be. The pictures were taken from Redlands Lane some 300-400m west of the Abbey.

If you wish to share these with the Inquiry during my brief contribution today, please feel free.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely, Nigel Leigh
